LOT 94

THE CHARNWOOD FOREST FIND OF LATE ROMAN Æ.

This consists of the lower portion of a pottery urn containing some twelve pounds weight of coins which was found June 2, 1840, in a field near the Monastery of St. Bernard, near Loughborough. Only a few of the coins have been cleaned, but these yielded specimens of Gallienus, Postumus, Claudius Gothicus, Victorinus, Tetricus, etc.; the remainder being in their untouched state—which appears to be generally good—and are contained in the lower portion of an urn, the upper part of which was broken in ploughing.

With this lot is a certificate of the circumstances of the find signed by the Superior of the Monastery, and also a note on the find from the Journal of the British Archaeological Association, at whose meeting in Manchester (? 1841) they were exhibited, and which note has a coloured etching of the urn and its contents by George Cruikshank.

The find was finally presented by the B.A.A. to Mr. G. M. Hills, whose son is now the vendor.

This interesting object was found at Babylon during the excavation of the Temples in 1914, and came into the hands of the present owner direct from the actual finder. The part surrounding the dark pupil is cut away revealing the bluish-white surface representing the eyeball, $1\frac{1}{8}$ in. diam., slightly curved and cut roughly flat at the back. Round the outside bevelled edge of the pupil is an inscription extremely fine in style, and no doubt contemporary in date, which translated, reads as follows: "To the god Marduk, his Lord, Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon, presented [this] for his life."
